NEW YORK, December 10th, 1883.

JOHN L. LOCKWOOD, Esq.,

Dear Sir:—I have not only analyzed the "Clysmic Water," but daily partake of it. I find it palatably alkaline eminently suited for table use, either alone, or mingled with wine. Its freedom from organic impurities especially commends it to the public.

Yours Respectfully,

R. ODGEN DOREMUS, M. D., LL. D.

STATEMENT.

Clysmic Natural Mineral Spring Water comes from Clysmic Spring located in the village of Waukesha, State of Wisconsin, about twenty miles from Milwaukee, on the railroad to St. Paul. The water has rapidly become famous for its wonderful cures in the diseases before mentioned. I am daily in receipt of additional testimonials from those who have been cured and benefited by drinking it.

In offering this water to the public as a beverage, and calling it the King of Table Waters, I do so with the full knowledge that it is honestly entitled to that distinction, and will be so estimated by all who learn its true value. It is without exception the purest water in the world, being so pure and free from vegetable matter that it is as clear as crystal and sparkles like diamonds, and will remain as sweet after being bottled for years as when first dipped from the spring. As a beverage it is delicious, and will allay thirst when all other drinks fail. As a dilutant for wines and liquors it cannot be equalled. During the few years the Clysmic Water has been upon the market, it has, upon its merit alone, deservedly become the favorite table water in private families, and is now used in all the prominent Clubs, Hotels, &c., sustaining fully its reputation as the King of all Waters, native or imported. Its valuable medicinal properties and the necessity for its use in the treatment of the diseases mentioned, is attested by the medical profession generally, and the distinguished members of all branches or schools, not only endorse and recommend it, but, use it daily upon their own tables.

I have recently had the water analyzed by the distinguished Chemist, Professor R. Ogden Doremus, and the result is published that the purity and value of the water might also be attested by the best scientist in our land.

The following testimonials are selected from hundreds of others and will speak more convincingly than any words of mine, but I will add that I first became interested in putting the water upon the market from its having performed the remarkable cure of a member of my own family who had been a great sufferer for years; confident that could I but make its merit known success would be assured, and I can say that my confidence was not misplaced and I am constantly obliged to increase my bottling facilities in order to meet the growing demand.

To the Medical Profession.

I ask the ladies and the gentlemen of the medical profession who have not already done so, to give this nature's remedy a fair trial, and they will find it a remedial agent worthy of their confidence and recommendation. I sell the water as a merchant and not as one professing any medical knowledge, but I do know its value by trial and a trial is all I ask for it.

The evidence I offer you in this book cannot be disputed; it is mostly from parties that I have never seen, but who are above suspicion, and who offer it in gratitude, and for the good of others, not for mine. Try it not by prescribing one or two or even three glasses per day, but eight or ten, (it is perfectly harmless), and the result of even one day's trial will give you sufficient confidence in it to continue doing so.

Respectfully,

John L. Lockwood

Proprietor and Sole Manager, 3 Howard St., New York City.

*My Dear Sir :—*As you know I have been a long time making up my mind regarding “Clysmic” Water, and after many trials, extending over several years, I must say that I am convinced of its efficacy in the treatment of certain forms of Kidney and Bladder disease, and for a table water I regard it the best in the world.

NEW YORK, April 20th, 1882.

Mr. JOHN L. LOCKWOOD, 61 Crosby St.

Dear Sir:—My attention was first called to the use of Clysmic Water by Judge Hilton in Saratoga some two years since, but simply as a table water, mixing with wines. Since then I have used it not only for the table, where I think it excels any other water I have ever seen, but in various forms of disease. In Diabetes, Bright's Disease, and Catarrh of the Bladder, as well as in conditions arising from deranged digestion, it has afforded marked and positive benefit. In fever, where there is great thirst and scanty urine, I find it refreshing and beneficial, acting much better than ordinary water. In Diphtheria and Scarlet Fever it acts very kindly, relieving the patient of much of the danger from the secondary kidney trouble, so apt to prove fatal. In the sick room and on the dinner table the Clysmic Water is always welcome. The only trouble I can see will be as it becomes thoroughly known, the demand will exceed your ability to supply.

Respectfully,

E. GUERNSEY.

JOHN L. LOCKWOOD, Esq.

Dear Sir:—Please send me C. O. D. two dozen bottles Clysmic. I am using it entirely for drinking instead of Croton, and find it always palatable, fresh and pure. I first learned to use it in my practice about four years ago in cases of Diabetes and Morbus Brightii, subsequently in all cases of Cystitis and Prostatitis, and still later in all cases of Gonorrhœa in which it entirely neutralizes the Ardor Urinæ. For all the inflammatory diseases of the urinary tract I consider it a necessary addition to the Physician's armamentarium, and it has proved of great service in my practice in all of the diseases above named:

Mr. JOHN L. LOCKWOOD, 61 Crosby Street.

Dear Sir:—After the use of Clysmic Water for some months, I am convinced that Dr. E. Guernsey is correct in his estimate of it, as given to you in a recent letter from him. I use it daily on my table and recommend it to all my patients. For diluting wines and liquors it is the best table water in use, as it is, in a measure, prophylactic against dyspepsia, gout, liver and kidney diseases, the usual eventual experience of those indulging freely. It is curative of Cystitis and Diabetes, and promptly, in many cases, relieves the congestion of the kidneys, which neglected, so frequently ends in Bright's Disease. It relieves the thirst of fever, complicates no disease, and while not interfering with the therapeutic effect of remedies prescribed by the attending physician, adds to their efficiency. A glass or two of it is a much better "night-cap" than gin, or brandy, or whiskey, and while it may be just as satisfactory in pleasantly stimulating a torpid stomach, it tends to produce quiet sleep, and a clear brain the following morning for the active duties of life.

Sincerely yours,

JOHN F. TALMAGE, M. D.

Dear Sir:—In looking over the many testimonials sent you setting forth the merits of Clysmic Water, I find one from Mr. Wm. Hoyt who, upon my recommendation, has used it very freely in his family, and more especially in the case of one of his children, with marked benefit. I have used Clysmic a great deal in my practice for Bright's Disease, Bladder Affections, and in some forms of Dyspepsia, and its use will extend among the profession as its merits become better known.

From Wm. Nephew King, M. D.

214 West 44th St., NEW YORK, Aug. 14th, 1882.

MR. JOHN L. LOCKWOOD, 61 Crosby Street.

My dear Sir:—I think it my duty for the sake of humanity to report the following case of the cure of Bright's Disease by the use of your Clysmic Water, and hope you will excuse the liberty I take in doing so at length.

A daughter of an extensive Lumber Merchant of this City, 112 Front Street, (I give the address, so that any one interested may call and hear the particulars of the case for themselves from fountain head,) aged eleven years, had an attack of Scarlatina simplex, the sequela of which, as is well known to the profession, is frequently more severe than a graver form of the disease.

The attack passed through its phases very mildly, and at the end of nine days she was up, but did not venture out for several weeks, as a precautionary measure, the weather being unfavorable.

Six weeks after the attack her mother requested me to prescribe for the following symptoms: pain in the head, great restlessness, severe pain in the back and over the kidneys, listlessness and want of appetite; with dry skin and feverish heat, very scant urine, extremities quite swollen, also beneath the eyes, with a general waxy look of the countenance. Upon an analysis of the urine, I found twenty per cent. of albumen present, with a development of very grave symptoms throughout the general system, more particularly the brain, being threatened with convulsions, which I looked for hourly. I immediately put her upon Clysmic Water, as a drink, and in every article of food requiring liquid in its preparation, the Clysmic was used instead of any other water.

I watched her very closely; at the end of the third day her symptoms began to improve—first the headache was relieved, the skin became soft and moist, and the kidneys began action, and gradually all of the functions began to resume their work. On the tenth day after the use of the Clysmic, I made an analysis of her urine and found only thirteen per cent. of Albumen. She continued to improve without interruption, and upon the second analysis, which occurred on the twenty-third day of the use of the Water, only three and a half per cent. of Albumen remained. Fifteen days later not a trace remained, and the patient in better health than previous to the attack. She has been perfectly well up to the present time, now over seven months.

Dear Sir:—I very cheerfully send you a line commending the use of the Clysmic Water. Through injudicious habits of study some few years since, my digestion became seriously impaired resulting in functional disturbance of the kidneys. What I suffered cannot easily be put in words. My physicians counseled me to try mineral waters, and I flatter myself that I have had a pretty large experience with the various kinds that are regarded as specific for the troubles indicated above. I need not assure you after the quantity ordered through your house that I have at length settled down on the Clysmic Water as a permanent choice. I am about as hearty and as strong to-day as I ever have been; the result is most gratifying. I cheerfully commend its use to others afflicted as I have been.

Dear Sir:—Permit me to join the army of those who, I doubt not, are offering their testimony to the merits of the Clysmic Water. I have suffered more or less all my life from acidity of the stomach with all its attendant miseries affecting the kidneys and urine, uric acid strongly impregnating the latter. Your Clysmic Water has done more to relieve me from these troubles than any and all other remedies ever used. I have positive evidence of this, because I am frequently troubled during the night by what I have eaten at dinner fermenting and one or two glasses of Clysmic soon removes the trouble

Dear Sir:—I am certainly willing, for the sake of others that may be suffering, to testify to the great merit of your Clysmic Mineral Spring Water. I had been a great sufferer from inflammation and catarrh of the bladder for four years ; had consulted and been under the care of some of the best physicians in the country and had given up all hopes of being anything but a half bed-ridden invalid, when I was induced to try your Clysmic Mineral Spring Water. A few hours after drinking it I was relieved from intense suffering, and continued to improve. In three months' time I was cured, and this my friends and physicians considered almost miraculous, as the state of my health, when I commenced drinking the water was most precarious, being kept under the influence of opiates, so great was the pain I suffered, as applications, and everything horrible in the list of treatment in such cases, had been of no avail.

Mr. JOHN L. LOCKWOOD.

Dear Sir :—I have used your Clysmic Water for different members of my family during the past two years and have invariably found great benefit therefrom not only in kidney troubles, but also in relieving chronic indigestion. I have also recommended it to afflicted friends with very satisfactory results.

Very respectfully yours,

MRS. E. L. SMITH.

Mr. JOHN L. LOCKWOOD.

Dear Sir :—I gave a customer of ours who was complaining of Chronic Inflammation of the Bladder one of your book circulars, making him promise to come and tell me if Clysmic helped him. He has been in and says five hundred dollars would have been cheap for the information given him; that Clysmic had made life worth living for once more. My own frequent orders are, I presume, more satisfactorily convincing of my high estimation of its great medicinal value than anything I can write you, so I say, send me another case of the Effervescent Clysmic.

Truly yours,

H. S. ARMSTRONG.

Mr. JOHN L. LOCKWOOD.

Dear Sir.—I have been troubled with a disease of the kidneys for some years and have tried several kinds of Mineral Water, but from none did I derive any benefit until I used the Effervescent Clysmic Water. I most cordially recommend it for its curative properties as well as for its delicious taste. I never drink any other water and believe it to be without an equal and I would be pleased to give personal assurance of its merits to any enquirer.

Mr. Lockwood :—For five years I have been afflicted with inflammation of the kidneys and other serious troubles. At times it was impossible for me to walk more than four blocks without suffering the most intense pain. I have been attended in different parts of the country by the most noted physicians and pronounced incurable. Last summer I heard a retired physician recommend to a lady similarly afflicted the Clysmic Water. He spoke so earnestly of its curative powers that I thought once more to make a trial, although my faith through constant disappointment was very weak. I procured the Clysmic Water and from the first experienced relief. It has been of the greatest benefit to me, and had it been so that I could have procured it in the little village where I have been obliged to spend much of the winter, I feel that I should now be entirely cured, and, as it is, so greatly has it benefited me that I can now walk for two miles without experiencing any unpleasant effects.

Clysmic is undoubtedly the water for use in Kidney and Bladder diseases. I am daily recommending it to my patients and neighbors. A lady in climaxis was attacked with Catarrh of the Bladder, and after three months' treatment, during which all the water she made was drawn with the catheter, and the advice of many physicians was sought, without relief, I advised her to try Clysmic Water. During the fifty-first hour after first tasting Clysmic she passed water, and has never needed a catheter since, and is now at five months' time, well as to the kidneys and bladder.

Dear Sir:—I have been using for several months, in my practice the Clysmic Water in cases of Morbus Brightii and Albuminuria with the most satisfactory results. I will cite the case of Mrs. Seaver, of this city. She came under my professional care in the month of May; I found her in the second stage of Bright's Disease of the Kidney. Her urine when tested, showed sixty per cent. of albumen, and all other attending symptoms were most unfavorable. She had ascites, irregular action of the heart, morning sickness, violent headache, pain in the renal regions, prostration and great thirst. I had treated her for about three weeks with very good results, but the dropsy was but partially removed under my medication. In the month of July I advised her to drink Clysmic Water. The first two days after she commenced using the water she drank one quart per day, and the effect produced by its action on the Kidneys was most astounding—in less than three days all signs of dropsy had disappeared. At this period she continues to improve in health and strength, without manifesting any returning dropsical symptoms. She still continues using the water.

Mr. JOHN L. LOCKWOOD, New York.

Dear Sir:—Please send me another case of Clysmic, and in about two weeks send me more.

In regard to the sickness of my wife, I will state that she is diabetic, and our physician, Dr. J. Francis King, who has been for several years troubled the same way, discovered this in my wife last February, and recommended me to consult a physician North. I took her to Philadelphia to see Dr. Thomas G. Morton, 1421 Chestnut Street, and he also pronounced her disease diabetes, and recommended the Clysmic Water. The specific gravity then was 30 to 32, and the first day's use of the water reduced it to 16. Before she commenced using it she had lost a great deal of flesh, but since its use has not lost any nor gained any, but has a good appetite all the time, and feels all right. Our physician, who at first rather discredited it, now on trying it, likes it very much. I have written to Dr. Thomas G. Morton, telling him of the benefit my wife has derived from using the Clysmic Water.

Very respectfully yours,

J. H. DAVID.

On a postal-card received, dated Sept. 3d, 1879, Mr. David writes :
"My wife's health is right good."

The following is an Extract from Lecture 36, Page 583. FIFTH EDITION, on the Diseases of Women, by

R. LUDLAM, M.D.,

Professor of the Medical and Surgical Diseases of Women in the Hahnemann Medical College and Hospital, of Chicago; Late President of the American Institute of Homoeopathy, and of the Chicago Academy of Medicine; Corresponding Member of the Homoeopathic Medical Societies of Great Britain, France, Massachusetts, and New York; Author of a Volume of Clinical Lectures on Diphtheria; Member of the State Board of Health of Illinois, etc.

Another valuable, if not indispensable, auxiliary in the treatment of sub-acute and chronic cystitis especially, is the use of appropriate mineral waters, the best of which, I think, is the "Clysmic" Spring Water. My attention was first called to its value in consequence of its remarkable effect in the cure of one of my best personal friends.

The notes of her case are as follows :

Case.—Mrs.—, aged 26, the mother of three children, had suffered for four years from what was diagnosticated to be Catarrh of the Bladder, Inflammation of the Neck of the Bladder, and the first stage of Bright's Disease with Malarial Fever in the worst form. So many different opinions as to the nature of the disease were given by Drs. Alonzo Clark, George E. Belcher, and several other distinguished and competent physicians of New York City. Both schools of treatment were faithfully and skillfully tried, but without avail. The catheter was used for many weeks; then an injection of morphine, and twice each week an application of iron was made to the interior of the bladder, which was continued for six months. It became impossible for her to walk, for the slightest exertion caused an untold agony, with local spasms that required the use of seven grain suppositories of opium before they would yield. The pain that was caused by the desire to urinate was beyond description.

When her weight had been reduced from 172 to 112 pounds, and it seemed impossible that she should recover, a final consultation of physicians was held, and it was decided to wash out the bladder and inject a solution of nitrate of silver. The prognosis given was that she must die, or be bed-ridden for the balance of her life.

Before beginning the use of the caustic injections, she began to drink the "Clysmic Water." In a very little while the painful symptoms subsided and in a few weeks she had entirely recovered her health. More than two years have now elapsed, and there has been no return of the difficulty.

This kind of spring water seems especially adapted to those cases of urinary disorder in women, which are catarrhal in character, and which are compounded with miasmatic and dyspeptic derangements. For this reason it has a wide range of application in paludal districts, and with those patients who have developed a kind of urinary cachexia, which does not respond to ordinary remedies, and which, except for its use, are exceedingly difficult to cure.

The following is from Professor Thomas G. Morton, of Philadelphia one of the surgeons to the Pennsylvania Hospital, Surgeon to the Philadelphia Orthopædic and Jewish Hospitals, Emeritus Surgeon to the Wills Ophthalmic Hospital, Consulting Surgeon to the Women's Hospital and to the Pennsylvania Institution for the Instruction of the Blind, State Commissioner for the Norristown Hospital for the Insane, etc.

1421 CHESTNUT ST., Philadelphia, Pa., Sep. 6th, 1879.

JOHN L. LOCKWOOD, Esq.

My dear Sir:—I have used the Clysmic Natural Spring Water in a number of cases of Diabetes Mellitus, and the united opinion of those who have used this water, is decidedly in its favor. I order it in all such cases, and I believe it decreases the amount of urine passed, lessens the thirst, and the amount of sugar in the urine certainly diminishes. I look upon the water as decidedly beneficial in such cases, and time may show that its effects are more than beneficial. I shall be glad to have some of the water, and will settle with you for it on delivery.

Very respectfully,

THOMAS G. MORTON, M.D.

DIRECTIONS FOR USE.

Bright's Disease of the Kidneys.

This is a somewhat rare disease, and in the acute form the symptoms resemble those of acute inflammation of the kidneys, but it is distinguished from the latter affection by the urine containing albumen, or a substance similar to the white of an egg; and often by the occurrence within a few days of symptoms of acute dropsy. To detect albumen in the urine, if it is cloudy or muddy, strain it: then heat it in a silver spoon, earthen dish, or tin cup, to the boiling point: then if there is no change in its appearance, drop in a few drops of vinegar and heat it again. If the urine contains albumen when it is thus treated, there will soon appear white curdy flakes, if the quantity is considerable, but if it is small, there will merely be a whitish cloudiness.

The chronic form of this disease is much more common than the acute. The symptoms are very often obscure at their commencement. A growing weakness, some derangement of the digestive organs, an occasional tendency to frequent passages of urine, with diminution of the quantity discharged, or some irregularity in its appearance, with perhaps obscure pains in the small of the back, are usually among the first symptoms noticed; and even these may escape notice, or at least may not cause the patient to apply to a physician until dropsical swellings appear, which usually commence in the face and extend over the whole body. There may be some tenderness over the region of the kidneys on strong pressure, and the quantity of urine discharged is found to be less than during health and its density or weight is also diminished, and it usually contains more or less albumen. As the disease progresses the blood gradually loses its coloring matter, and the patient becomes very pale. The albumen although generally present in the urine, is not always constantly so, but its specific gravity, or weight, in equal quantity compared with healthy urine, gradually diminishes, and the countenance of the patient, from the loss of the red globules of the blood, often acquires before death, a waxen, yellowish white, death-like hue. Dropsy generally attends this disease, but it is not always present; nor is the presence of albumen in the urine always positive evidence of the existence of this affection; but when the urine is scanty and contains more or less albumen, although perhaps free from it at times, and when at the same time the specific gravity or weight of the urine is steadily diminishing, until it is considerably less than during health, you may be reasonably sure that the patient is suffering from this disease: and the occurrence of dropsy, and a pale and bloodless countenance, will strengthen this opinion. Disease of the heart, especially enlargement of the heart, and also disease of the liver, are frequent complications of this affection, and patients suffering from this disease are very subject to inflammatory diseases.

TREATMENT.—The water should be taken at the rate of eight or ten glasses each day, and steadily continued until all traces of albumen disappear.

Diabetes.

This disease is characterized by copious discharges of sweet urine of a pale yellowish or greenish yellow color, and sometimes of a faint, sweetish odor. The saccharine matter resembles grape sugar. The first symptom which usually attracts the attention of the patient is the frequency of the calls to pass urine, and he generally soon notices that the quantity is increased. The patient soon begins to be troubled with great thirst, the appetite often becomes craving, the mouth and throat dry and parched. There is a sensation of hollowness or sinking, with faintness at the pit of the stomach, and other dyspeptic symptoms, with great debility and emaciation. The quantity of urine discharged usually varies from ten to twenty, and sometimes from thirty to fifty pints or more in twenty-four hours, and this often for weeks or months together. The specific gravity or weight of the urine is generally increased, owing to the presence of sugar. If sugar is present in any quantity you can detect it very readily. Add a little yeast to some of the urine and set it down in a warm place, and if there is sugar present it will begin to ferment within twenty-four hours, whereas healthy urine will not go through the same process. Albumen is also sometimes present.

TREATMENT.—Drink ten tumblers full a day for three days, commencing before breakfast. After using the water the first day, there will be no thirst, and in a few days the specific gravity will mark 18°. After this date drink the water so as to keep the urine in the normal condition of 16° to 20°. In fifteen days all traces of the sugar is generally eradicated.

DIET should be meats and fishes of all kinds, salads, tomatoes, celery, spinach, parsley, cabbage, and all vegetable matter that does not contain starch or sugar. Potatoes should not be eaten, no bread or pastry of any kind whatever, nor sweets of any kind. Tea or coffee can be taken with cream, but no sugar. Bran bread made with eggs, cream, butter and such, is the only bread allowed during special treatment. Graham bread is injurious. The bran bread should be free from all traces of flour. Fruits are injurious, and should be avoided. Exercise in the open air should be taken daily.

Inflammation of the Kidneys.

SYMPTOMS.—Severe pains in the groins and loins, extending to the testicles. There is also a retraction of this gland, and numbness in the inside of the thigh, caused by any pressure, this accompanied by fever and pain in the abdomen. Shooting pain in the direction of the bladder; the urine seems diseased, and generally contains blood and albumen.

TREATMENT.—This distressing disease is relieved on short notice by the patient drinking from eight to ten tumblers full a day of the Clysmic Water. The result will be a large discharge of urine and a moist skin.

Stone in the Kidney.

SYMPTOMS.—A constant and uncertain pain in the loins, but at times confined chiefly to the glands; blood and a red sediment in the urine; frequent nausea; pain increasing with exercise, and diminishing or disappearing when the patient is quiet.

TREATMENT.—For three days the water is to be taken freely, not less than two quarts each day, when the happiest relief will be experienced. After that, more moderately, the symptoms furnishing the date for determining what is needful.

Stone in the Bladder.

SYMPTOMS.—Frequent desire to pass water; a sudden stoppage while in the act of passing, and pain at the conclusion in the neck of the bladder.

TREATMENT.—Here, as in all similar inflammatory suffering, the patient will obtain quick relief by a prompt and free use of this water, taking not less than seven or eight glasses each day. Even when chronic and fixed, the disease yields to persistent use.

Inflammation of the Bladder.

SYMPTOMS.—Frequent desire to pass water, but the quantity limited, and much distress in the operation, constricting pressure at the lower part of the abdomen, with dull pain.

TREATMENT.—Relief and speedy cure of this distressing complaint will follow the regular daily use of the Clysmic Mineral Water, eight or ten glasses daily. Moderate exercise should be taken, stimulants carefully avoided, and the diet very plain and regular.

The Retention of Urine.

The water should be used very freely—not less than two quarts each day. Its action is soothing, and yet in the happiest degree stimulating. The useful secretions are increased and the inflammatory conditions subdued.

Incontinence of Urine.

Drink this water freely before breakfast—more sparingly afterward through the day. Instances are known when this system has quickly and effectually cured the worst cases.

For Dyspepsia,

with its formidable list of discomforts, brought on by indigestion we find this Clysmic Water the most efficient remedy ever used for it, even if it is of many years standing.

SYMPTOMS.—Want of appetite, excessive, fitful and vitiated appetite, acidity, bad taste in the mouth, white tongue, dry harsh skin, weight and pain of stomach, belching, constipation, etc., causing general debility. Great depression of feelings, imaginations, sometimes horrible to contemplate, sometimes ungenial, no joyousness, easy to take offence, avoiding company, a feeling that no one wants anything to do with them, etc.

Bladder Diseases, Irritability, &c.

SYMPTOMS.—A frequent desire to pass water, without any passage. Turbulent symptoms—very aggravating.

TREATMENT.—The Clysmic Water regulates this, but it takes time. It will never fail in giving relief, but the patient should co-operate with the curative water, and never use anything that tends to irritate or disease the urine. Moderate exercise should be taken after commencing the use of the water, and there should be a great regularity in the diet. Seven or eight tumblers of water should be taken daily until relieved.

Liver and Bilious Affections.

The Clysmic Water acts immediately on the Liver, restoring it to healthy action in a few days, and will cure Biliousness by the use of it. The water causes perspiration so freely that it diminishes the bad blood. It can be readily seen that this is a very efficient, safe and natural remedy to correct the bilious condition of the system; it separates the bile from the blood, allowing the blood to become pure and healthful.

TREATMENT.—Let the patient drink eight to ten tumblers a day for three days; after that it can be taken more moderately. In six days you will find a stimulating feeling and an inspiration to muscular effort and mental exertion; you will begin to forget that you have been sick, also your former bodily fatigues.

From Dr. W. H. May, Member of State Eclectic Society of New York.

50 West 24th St., NEW YORK, September 23d, 1885.

JOHN L. LOCKWOOD, Esq.,

Dear Sir:—Have been prescribing your Clysmic Water extensively for several years, and in no instance has it ever produced any but a favorable effect. In one case in particular, (J. P. Dunham, 738 Eighth Ave.) where he was given up by his physicians, as an incurable case of Bright's Disease in the last stage, I was called in and as a final resort I prescribed the free use of Clysmic Water, and succeeded in restoring him to health, without any other remedies scarcely except Tonics during convalescence. This was in April, 1882: at the present time he is in good health and able to work upon his farm on Staten Island, and during all this time there has never been any evidence of relapse, notwithstanding the active duties and exposure required in the occupation of a farmer; I close by stating that in my estimation it has proved itself a truly wonderful and valuable remedy.

In appreciating that fact, you are at perfect liberty to use my name as reference publicly in testimony of its effects.

Respectfully,

W. H. MAY, M. D.

From Dr. J. E. L. Davis.

NYACK, N. Y., April 2d, 1884.

JOHN L. LOCKWOOD,

Dear Sir:—I have used the Clysmic Water for several years in my practice, and have been delighted with the results in Kidney and Bladder difficulties.

Yours Truly,

J. E. L. DAVIS, M. D.

From President First National Bank,

LAFAYETTE, IND., June 12th, 1885.

JOHN L. LOCKWOOD, Esq.,

Dear Sir:—Please send circular to Mr. A. H. Seabury, as he is an old friend of mine and I have recommended the Clysmic Water to him as he complained of Urinary trouble, which, from his statement I supposed to be Inflammation of the neck of the bladder, as it had cured me of the same apparent difficulty.

Very Respectfully,

M. L. PEIRCE.

From Dr. W. B. Hunt, 103 West 29th Street.

NEW YORK CITY, August 7th 1884.

JOHN L. LOCKWOOD, Esq.,

Dear Sir:—I have been using the Clysmic Water in a case of Chronic Cystitis and it is the only remedy that has proved beneficial. I have also prescribed it in cases of Congested Kidneys, following Scarlet Fever, and can truly say it has worked satisfactory.

Respectfully Yours,

(SIGNED.) WM. B. HUNT.
